Parents of Boy Are Told Body Will Be Sent Back 'in a Box'

Chickla, Mass., Dec. 8 (AP)—Detectives sought desperately today to find the person who told the father of a kidnapped six-month-old child that the child would be returned "in a box."

Father J. Carlin, a navy man, told police a man telephoned him last night and said: "Tell your daughter crossing wife that the body's off because she tipped the police. Tell her you'll get the baby back in a box."

Carlin's telephone calls to Mrs. Carlin had brought demands for ransom but investigators attributed them to hoaxers. The father failed to carry out instructions as to how to contact the supposed ransom takers, and police made a wide search for the "phone caller."

Sum of $386,354 Is Approved; Final Budget Ready by December 14

A preliminary report of the committee on appropriations made Friday evening indicated that the annual net budget which will be offered for approval at the next meeting of the Board of Supervisors will be somewhat higher than the net budget of $687,917.18 which was approved last year.

Appropriations totaling $386,354.42 were approved Friday evening, a considerable portion of that sum being for charities and various forms of relief, including the Old Age Relief Fund of $105,000.

The final budget will be ready for adoption at the next meeting of the Board which will take place Friday evening, December 14.

The committee on salaries failed to include an appropriation for the commissioner of jurors salary, and the deputy commissioner in its report earlier in the week and a second report was made by the committee. The report that there be raised the sum of $2,750 for salary for the commissioner and $1,980 for the deputy commissioner of jurors was approved and it was moved that the sum of $4,730 be assessed and levied on the county to pay the salaries.

When the committee of appropriations indicated it would submit a report, Supervisor Kelb of Wawarsing asked that the minority members be given an opportunity to study the report before being called upon to vote. Supervisor O'Neill moved that a 15-minute recess be taken to give opportunity to study the report and the resolution was carried by a 19 to 9 vote and the recess was taken. Minority members of the Board examined the report and the report was adopted.

The report recommended and it was moved that the following sums be raised on the county for the following purposes:

- Bounties—$2,700.
- Crippled Children—$12,000.
- Employees Retirement System—$13,251.98.
- Bovine Disease Control—$1,000.
- Farm Bureau—$5,400.
- Home Bureau—$1,500.
- 4-H Club—$5,400.
- Court and Stenographer Expenses—$2,353.34.
- Platol Permit Bureau—$600.
- Tuberculosis Hospital—$68,000.
- Court and Jury Fund—$30,000.
- Veteran's Memorial Hospital—$2,500.
- Repairs to books in clerk's office—$1,500.
- County Officers Association—$150.
- Publicity Fund—$2,500.
- Board Prisoners—$2,500.
- Repairs to County Building—$1,000.
- Repairs to jail—$3,000.
- Commissioner of Jurors expense account $100.

It was moved that there be assessed and levied on the property outside the city of Kingston the following sums for the following amounts:

- Maintenance of Inmates at County Home—$16,000.
- Repairs to County Home—$2,000.
- Aid to Dependent Children—$18,000.
- Aid to Blind—$1,000.
- Employees Retirement System—$2,148.10.
- Welfare Administration Account—$32,000.
- Old Age Relief—$105,000.
- Burial Fund—$9,000.

Supervisor Saccomani said he attended the inspection at the County Home this week and found conditions in the men's quarters much improved. He said County Commissioner Kniffin has done a splendid job and apparently had spent to good advantage the $20,000 appropriation available. He said this appropriation should be increased so more work could be done and he suggested that

Japan Pays Two Million Daily for Forces' Support

Some Japanese Leaders May Be Tried in Hawaii for Murder; Japs Get News

Tokyo, Dec. 8 (AP)—Beaten Japan learned today—on this fourth anniversary of her declaration of war on the United States—the staggering costs of defeat.

Some of the newly reported "price tags": Japan is paying over $2,000,000 daily to support American occupation forces.

Some Japanese war leaders may be tried in Hawaii for "murder" because of the Pearl Harbor attack.

An Diet member has demanded that Japan regain China's friendship by restoring the loot obtained from that nation.

Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma, who led the Japanese to triumph in the Philippines, is to be taken soon to Manila for trial as the man responsible for the "Bataan Death March."

The Japanese reading public for the first time is being presented an American Army prepared outline of Japanese plotting which led the nation to downfall.

The first was criminal trials will begin at Yokohama December 17. The Army announced officially today. On that date, an American military tribunal will begin hearing the first of approximately 300 Japanese accused of atrocities against American prisoners of war.

These first trials include none of the so-called major suspects, whose war-guilt hearings are scheduled to begin in January.

War-time Premier Hideki Tojo and his cabinet, who head the major list, have been moved from the Omori prison camp to Sugamo prison. Col. Robert Hardy announced today. Omori now is empty and henceforth only Sugamo will be used. It resembles an American penitentiary, Hardy said.

Staggering National Debt
Authoritative sources said the occupation is costing Japan approximately one-fourth the extraordinary war expenditures during the closing days of the war. These war budgets resulted in heavy note inflation and a staggering national debt.

Japanese officials say "we must do our best but the load is very heavy."

General MacArthur's chief prosecutor of Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor, Joseph B. Keenan, indicated some of the plotters might be tried in Hawaii for "murder." War Premier Hideki Tojo will not be one of those, however, Keenan said.

"Certain individuals at Pearl Harbor who were citizens of the United States were murdered December 7, 1941. (Keenan used the U. S. date). Their lives were taken in the United States," he asserted, adding "if there is any violation of federal statutes involved there is no reason why we should not try them in Hawaii."

Homma, who has been in Omori prison here and who denied he ordered the "Death March," probably will go to Manila within a few days for trial as a war criminal.

Demand for the return of property stolen from the Chinese came in the Diet's House of Representatives from Liberalist Takao Kimura. He also accused Premier Baron Kijuro Shidehara of "doing nothing to solve the important problems of the nation."

Will Wear Slacks
Greenwich, Conn., Dec. 8 (AP)—British born Georgina Campbell, eighth bride-to-be of Tommy Manville, aims to set a precedent when she weds the asbestos fortune heir. The precedent would be the addition of another Mrs. to the Manville marital score. Miss Campbell says there is nothing unique about that. But as far as she knows, all seven of Tommy's previous brides have worn gowns. She plans to wear slacks when the ceremony is performed in a suite in the Blackwell Arms Hotel here Sunday.

A-Bomb Is On Agenda For Big 3

Foreign Secretaries Will Meet in Moscow on 15th; Byrnes Leaves Next Week

Slate Is Large Iran, China, Japan and Peace Are Other Vital Points

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—The Big Three among world powers will make their first joint approach to the ominous subject of atomic energy control at a meeting of United States, British and Russian foreign secretaries in Moscow December 15.

An official announcement by the State Department said that "an exchange of views on the subject of the control of atomic energy" definitely would be held. The secretaries also will take up other matters of "current concern" to their governments.

Secretary of State Byrnes will have to leave by early next week in order to meet Foreign Minister Bevin of Britain and Foreign Commissar Molotov of Russia on the agreed date.

Problems which they may discuss include the civil strife in Iran, Allied controls for Japan, the unification of China, and means of getting European peace plans back on the track, although the announcement last night did not specify these as discussion topics. A troublesome issue has been whether the United States and Britain eventually will recognize governments for Rumania and Bulgaria which Russia considers acceptable.

The meeting will afford the first opportunity for top Anglo-American officials to hear Russia's views on atomic bomb controls. President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee of Britain and Mackenzie King of Canada proposed recently that the United Nations set up a committee to study the controls.

In the meanwhile they decided to retain the atomic "know how" until peace appears reasonably secure.

This will be the first meeting of ministers since the breakdown of the Foreign Ministers Council at London in September. France and China were represented there but will not be present at the Moscow gathering.

A State Department official said that Secretary Byrnes suggested this meeting be held in Moscow but that the next session should be in Washington. The ministers plan to meet about once every three months.

Two Persons Hurt In Local Accident

Two persons were injured when one of them was struck by an automobile and hurled against the other at Cedar street and Broadway, at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening.

The injured were W. J. Mohl, who gave the Y. M. C. A. as his address, and the other Gertrude Carney of 118 Ten Broeck avenue, according to the police report.

Mohl, who was struck by the automobile, suffered cuts on the hand, while Gertrude Carney suffered a bruised knee and possible fracture of the ribs.

Alex Cashara of 249 Broadway, driver of the automobile, reported to the police that the couple were crossing Cedar street about 20 feet south of the Broadway intersection, and walked in front of his automobile.

The police reported that after Mohl was struck by the auto he was thrown against the woman, hurling her to the pavement. The police said that the two injured were treated by Dr. John Oliver, and X-rays would be taken today to determine the extent of the woman's injuries.

Poughkeepsie Veteran Loses To Non-Veteran, Legion Says

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—The American Legion, a spokesman said today, is investigating a report that a former Navy commander was dismissed by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and replaced by a non-veteran.

The R.F.C. had no immediate comment.

The veteran was identified by the Legion as former Navy Commander M. C. Frost of Poughkeepsie, N. Y. His release from the Navy, the Legion said, was obtained by Secretary of Commerce Wallace who then appointed him chief investigator in the Consumer Goods Division of the Surplus Property Administration. At that time, about three months ago, the division was under the jurisdiction of the Commerce Department.

Elliot Hays, the Legion spokesman, gave reporters this resume of the case:

Marshall Says U. S. Expected Japs to Attack Plane Plants In U.S. Rather Than Pearl Harbor

Stassen, Bricker Are Names Heard For G.O.P. in '48

Party Leaders Are Said to Be Ready for Any Squawks on Platform

Chicago, Dec. 8 (AP)—The names of Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota and John W. Bricker of Ohio popped up most frequently in lobby conversations about a 1948 G.O.P. ticket as the Republican National Committee prepared to act today on a Congressional declaration of party policy.

A resolutions committee headed by veteran Rep. Carroll Reece of Tennessee scheduled a meeting to consider the interim platform, amid indications party leaders are set to squelch any possible criticism or additions.

Clarence Budington Kelland, Arizona member, told reporters he wants the national committee to supplement what the Senators and Representatives had to say. But the betting odds were long that he would be unsuccessful in this effort.

Kelland had some support in the move, however. Walter S. Hallahan of West Virginia said he thinks the committee ought to have something additional to say for itself, and Lew Wentz of Oklahoma told a reporter he feels the same way.

Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts, minority House leader, said it's all right with him if the committee has some additional suggestions to make about party policy.

The discussion of potential Presidential and Vice-Presidential candidates went on "apace" despite the fact that the official program had no room for any such conjectures.

Green's Bid Is Seen
Governor Dwight H. Green of Illinois was credited widely with having bid definitely yesterday for at least a second-place spot on the ticket when he talked turkey to committee members about what the party ought to do to win the 1948 campaign.

Informal lobby conversations on possible candidates concerned themselves to a large extent with a half dozen men who have been mentioned often in the past, including Governor Thomas E. Dewey. Continued on Page Ten

15 Army Men Die In Crash of C-47

West Bound Plane Ruins Into Snowstorm in Montana

Billings, Mont., Dec. 8 (AP)—Fifteen Army men, several of them under discharge orders, and two Northwest Airlines pilots were reported killed early today during a snowstorm when their west bound plane, a C-47, crashed and burned one mile west of Billings in a field.

Names of the dead are being withheld by Army authorities and air line officials until next-of-kin are notified.

Eight men were taken to a Billings hospital, where two of them, the plane's pilot and co-pilot, died shortly afterwards. Of the 23 on the plane six escaped death, but were said by hospital attendants to be in critical condition.

The pilot was found pinned beneath the motor when police arrived at the scene at 2:15 a. m. (M.S.T.).

The crash occurred about 2:10 a. m. when the Army plane, approaching the Billings Municipal Airport from the south for a landing, apparently came in too low, caught a wing in the tops of trees bordering a boulevard and nose-dived into the field.

Six bodies, charred beyond recognition, were extricated from the smoldering, twisted wreckage by city and county officials, highway patrolmen and army and Northwest Airlines representatives.

An investigation of circumstances surrounding the crash will be made immediately upon the arrival of air corps officers from Cincinnati, O., headquarters of an army ferrying division, Major C. V. Prossers said. The accident also will be investigated by Northwest Airlines officials, who are expected to arrive from St. Paul, Minn., Howard Donaldson, Billings station manager said.

25 Per Cent Quit Work

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—The Labor Department says 25 per cent of the 4,000,000 women employed in factories last June had quit work or been laid off by the end of September. Its information, the department's labor statistics bureau said, "makes clear that many women who accepted war jobs when there was an urgent need for their services are voluntarily returning to private life."

Hope Is Held Some of 27 Missing Fliers Might Be Found in Swamp

Miami, Fla., Dec. 8 (AP)—The Navy announced that flares and a large fire were seen 20 miles apart in the desolate marshlands between Melbourne and Orlando shortly after 2 a. m. today and said search crews were being rushed to the scene in the hope of finding some survivors of 27 missing naval airmen.

In addition, the Navy said, green flares were seen at 2:30 a. m. today approximately 150 miles northeast of Great Abaco Island in the Bahamas. The Coast Guard cutter Pandora, one of scores of vessels flung into the great sea search for the missing men, was racing to the scene.

The Pandora was reported approximately 60 miles away.

The Navy said an Eastern Airlines pilot spotted red flares and flashing lights at 2 a. m. about 100 miles southwest of Melbourne, 190 miles north of Miami, and saw a man standing in the eerie light of the flares but no wreckage.

Five minutes later, the E.A.L. pilot reported that he saw a large fire burning between Melbourne and Orlando about 20 miles from the position of the flares.

Plane Is Sent
Swiftly investigating the reports—the first possible clues to the mysterious disappearance of the five naval torpedo bombers and the Martin Mariner bomber which set out to find the torpedo craft Wednesday night—the Navy dispatched a naval plane from the nearby Banana river station to fly over the area.

The pilot flashed back word at 2:30 a. m. that he also observed a flare some 15 miles inland.

At 4 a. m., the Navy said, a rescue squad of jeeps and amphibious craft from the Banana river station sped to the scene.

At 6:15 a. m., a marsh-wading "weasel"—the type used in rescue work in the Everglades—and several more amphibious craft set out from Vero Beach to join in the quickening search.

A dense fog handicapped the hunting parties however, as they pushed inland across the dreary grass country which is sparsely inhabited and chiefly devoted to cattle grazing.

"It's a lead—and we are following every possible clue," an official of Miami headquarters of the air-sea rescue group said.

"On the other hand, it might only be a party of hunters keeping warm around a camp fire. Lights are tricky things at night. While concentrating on the Orlando-Melbourne zone, the great search by hundreds of planes, dozens of ships and a Navy reconnoiter was pressed far out to sea again today.

Chief of Staff Says Strike at Panama Canal Also Figured in Expectations

Speaks of Bombers One Hundred Big Planes Would Have Changed Japs' Minds

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—The U. S. high command expected the Japanese to bomb airplane factories in Seattle, Wash., and San Diego, Calif., rather than Pearl Harbor, in 1941, Gen. George C. Marshall disclosed today.

Questioned by the joint Congressional Pearl Harbor investigating committee, the wartime chief of staff testified that he and other high officers thought this way early in December, 1941.

"I assumed Guam would be taken, probably Wake, though taking Wake Island would be more difficult. There was a possibility that an effort would be made to strike at the Panama Canal, our air plants in Seattle and San Diego.

Marshall said he thought "the most improbable" form of the Japanese assault would be what actually happened—a blow at Hawaii.

At that time the aircraft industry on the west coast was starting to reach high production although quantity had not yet reached the armed forces.

Marshall also said he believed in late 1941 that "if we had 100 four-engine bombers in the Philippines," Japan would have stopped its aggression.

The former chief of staff told the Senate House Committee investigating the December 7, 1941 attack on Pearl Harbor in Hawaii that every effort was being made then to "gain time for strengthening America's outpost."

"We think in thousands now," he said, "but 100 then was a very large concentration of bombers. I felt that if we had 100 four-engine bombers in the Philippines, Japan would not have hazarded operations in the South China Seas, nor dare to attack the Philippines."

Marshall testified, on his third day's appearance, in reply to questions by Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif.), Senator Brewster (R-Me.) had planned to whip up Marshall's opinion on whether a stoppage agreement with Japan in November, 1941, might have headed off war. But Brewster's father died last night, it was announced by Vice Chairman Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn.) and the Senator was absent today.

Marshall volunteered yesterday that he thought Japan might never have attacked the United States had Tokyo's warlords waited until January, 1942, instead of going ahead on December 7, 1941.

His reasoning was that the Japanese apparently scheduled their attack to come at the time of an expected Allied triumph in Russia—and in January that expectation had dimmed.

Brewster thus took a tack away from yesterday's disclosure of the "Dewey episode."

Marshall told how, in September, 1941, he sent two letters asking Governor Thomas E. Dewey to head off talk in the presidential campaign which the general feared might disclose that the United States had broken secret Japanese codes. Dewey, the Republican presidential nominee, agreed.

The letters sketched the vital part the code-breaking played in combat with the Japanese, by giving foreknowledge of their movements. Then came this: "You will understand from the foregoing the utterly tragic consequences if the present political

Pepper Gives His Views on Establishing U.N.O. Headquarters Here

London, Dec. 8 (AP)—Senator Claude Pepper (D., Fla.) told a United Nations sub-committee today that the new international peace capital should be established in the United States "because it is a country that belongs more to the world than to its own people."

While the sub-committee resumed hearings on offers from American cities for the United Nations site, a general committee argued the main issue: Whether the world capital should be in the United States or Europe.

Big Yule Party Woodstock Plan For School Pupils

The school children of the seven Woodstock Districts and West Hurley have begun the collection of warm used clothing to send to the children of the Soviet Union. This is an annual Christmas custom for the Woodstock district.

Sponsored by the American Society for Russian Relief, a party for the children will be held the afternoon of December 19, at Woodstock Town Hall. There will be carol singing by the various school groups and Santa Claus will distribute goodies. The children bring their gifts of warm used clothing or canned milk or soap as admission.

In the evening the Rev. William Howard Mellich will speak at Town Hall on "Religion in the Soviet Union."

Shutlis Corners Woman Injured in Car Crash

Mrs. Katherine Myer of Shutlis Corners received severe injuries when the Dodge sedan of Charles Brown, in which she was a passenger, was in collision with a Buick sedan owned by Mrs. Helen Colford of Woodstock, R.D., about 3:40 this morning.

Mrs. Myer was treated by Dr. Lester Sinking of Saugerties and then taken to the Kingston Hospital. She suffered very severe lacerations of the left ear and possible concussion.

Investigation by Trooper Kennedy, following report of the accident to the Lake Katrine station, showed that the Brown and Colford cars met at the top of a slight rise on the Saugerties-Woodstock road. Brown's car was turned upside down by the force of the impact, passengers managing to crawl out through one of the doors. In addition to Brown and Mrs. Myer, the latter's husband, George Myer, and his brother, Charles, the Colford car was forced backward and came to a stop in the ditch.

The occupants of the second car had left when Trooper Kennedy arrived and he was not informed as to their identity or whether they had sustained any injury. A further investigation was to be made.

Both cars were very badly damaged and had to be towed to a garage.

Projects Are in Making

Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 8 (AP)—Postwar fish and game projects are in the making, but the New York State Conservation Department needs more money before contemplating further material expansion of its program, the commissioner says. Speaking at the annual convention of the State Conservation Council last night, Perry B. Duryea itemized new construction projects, totaling $2,000,000, that are under consideration by the State Postwar Planning Commission.

Council Suggests Payments

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 8 (AP)—Pennsylvania should pay at least $25 a week unemployment compensation for 26 weeks, the Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council (C.I.O.) said in a statement today. Jobless benefits in the state rank below the average of other states, the group said, and are "seriously inadequate to make mass consumer purchasing power for business."

May Add Vitamins

Berkeley, Calif., Dec. 8 (AP)—A scientific experiment has opened up the possibility that vitamins may be added to wines and liquors to help preserve health and offset some of the effects of alcoholism. The experiment, reported today by Dr. Agnes Fay Morgan, nutrition expert at the University of California, demonstrated that B vitamins, added to wine four years ago, remained potent.

Hitler Was Delighted

Tokyo, Dec. 8 (AP)—Hitler was "delighted" when he learned of the advance of the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor but he did not have advance knowledge of Nipponese plans, Japan's wartime ambassador to Berlin Lt. Gen. Hiroshi Oshima said today.

Note Is Sent

Paris, Dec. 8 (AP)—A source at the French constituent Assembly said today that France has sent a note to the United States, Britain and Russia inviting them to state their position on the question of breaking relations with the Franco government of Spain.

Sales Are 13 Billions

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—Total sales in the Victory Loan to date are $13,736,000,000, the War Finance Division of the Treasury announced today. Sales to corporations total $9,362,000,000 and to individuals $4,374,000,000, of which $1,214,000,000 is in E Bonds.

Traffic Violation Charged

Israel Kartiganer of New York city was arrested by the police Friday charged with passing to the left of the traffic standard at Clinton and Albany avenues. He furnished $5 bail for his appearance later in police court.

"NEW WOMAN" OUTMOODEN

The "modern woman" of yesterday is now out-of-date, observers in Sydney, Australia, are convinced. To prove it they quote a casual remark heard on a street car: "Oh, Hilda is old-fashioned," said a girl today. "She doesn't believe in having children." Commentators approved the new thought trend.

Marshall Says U. S. Expected Jap West Coast Raids

debates regarding Pearl Harbor disclose to the enemy, German or Jap, any suspicion of the vital sources of information we now possess.

Marshall also disclosed in the letters how the code was broken. "Our cryptograph people analyzed the characters of the machine the Japanese were using for encoding their diplomatic messages." On this basis, he continued, "a corresponding machine was built by us which deciphers their messages."

"Now the point to the present dilemma is that we have gone ahead with this business of deciphering their codes until we possess other codes, German as well as Japanese," Marshall wrote.

Embassy Offices Searched

He said that in 1943 agents of the O. C. of Strategic Services had searched the Japanese embassy offices in neutral Portugal. This resulted, he said, in changing of the Japanese military attaché code the world over and loss of "this invaluable source of information."

Marshall testified that he called on Dewey because he felt the governor was the one man who could head off campaign "whisperings" about the code-breaking secret.

Marshall said the appeal to Dewey was entirely his own. He said he did not talk it over with any civilian officials and, even afterwards, did not tell President Roosevelt.

"I think he died without knowing it," Marshall added. "There had been a good deal of agitation among Republicans in Congress for an investigation of the disaster and talk that it would be brought spectacularly into the presidential campaign, he said."

There were also rumors around that the Japanese codes had been broken.

Marshall said the talk so disturbed Maj. Gen. Clayton Bissell, head of military intelligence, that he came to the chief of staff and said if it continued the Japanese were bound to deduce their code had been broken.

Marshall decided on the appeal to Dewey.

He wrote a letter and gave it to Colonel Carter Clarke who flew to Oklahoma, boarded Dewey's campaign train, and presented the message. That was September 25, 1944.

At the outset, the communication said: "What I have to tell you below is of such a highly secret nature that I feel compelled to ask you either to accept it on the basis of your not communicating its contents to any other person and returning this letter or not reading any further and returning the letter to the bearer."

Dewey read that and gave the letter back.

When Clarke returned with his report, Marshall decided on another try.

Another letter, not seeking to bind the governor so tightly, was written September 27 and Clarke took it up to Albany, N. Y.

Clarke telephoned that Dewey was unwilling to read it unless he could talk with one adviser about it.

Marshall assented to Dewey's consulting Elliott Bell, New York banking superintendent and one of the governor's campaign advisers.

Clarke returned and reported that Dewey had made no promises. But Dewey said nothing in the campaign.

Good Taste Today

WHEN "LITTLE" MARY IS SIX FEET TALL

A younger reader complains that the name "Little" Mary (to distinguish her from her mother also named Mary) may have been quite cute when she was little, but now that she has lengthened out to almost six feet, the name is too laughable! "On behalf of other parents," she continues, "who make the mistake of beginning to tag a child 'Little' to distinguish her from her mother who has the same name, won't you please tell them that this silly diminutive sticks in the minds of all the family friends and the relatives and becomes an unceasing irritation. I can't say I like junior for a girl, but surely there must be some other custom to follow. Is there?"

In answering this, I realize that I often have wondered why "Little" Mary or Edith or other name that has no variation has for generations been endured so tranquilly! (It must be or it wouldn't be carried on not only by mother and daughter, but for generations.) In happy cases, the name can be changed; Mother, Katherine; daughter, Kate; grand-daughter, Kathie, etc. At all events there is no advice for me to offer further than to print this letter with my reader's suggestion that babies named for their mothers be called something slightly different and avoid letting the prefix "Little" become permanent.

An Invitation Should Include An Address

Dear Mrs. Post: Shouldn't every invitation include an address for the party? I received one invitation lately that listed the names of the three hostesses but there was not an address anywhere on the card. I telephoned one of these women to find out and she seemed surprised that I should not take for granted it was at the house of the first one on the list. Many others, however, agree with me.

Answer: And so do I. Had the invitation been a visiting card on which one of the names was engraved as well as an address at the lower right, then that would have been sufficient to indicate the house at which the party was being given, but not otherwise.

A Whisper, Not a Shout

Dear Mrs. Post: What is polite to teach young children to say when they are in company and have to go to the bathroom?

Answer: They can say just that. It is not so important what they say, as that they whisper rather than shout.

After cutting meat, should the fork be transferred to the other hand? The answer is found in the leaflet, "Zigzag Eating," which may be obtained by sending a three-cent stamped self-addressed envelope to Mrs. Post in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Miss Adele Donaldson Is Bride of Hobart R. Noble

The wedding of Miss Adele Donaldson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Donaldson, 6 Crown street, to Hobart R. Noble, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Noble, 30 South Clinton avenue, took place Sunday, November 25, at 3:30 p. m. in the Church of the Nazarene. The Rev. Earl G. Lee, pastor, performed the ceremony.

Miss Gertrude Donaldson, pianist, played the traditional wedding music. Miss Ruth Donaldson as soloist sang, "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white satin gown made with sweetheart neckline. Her fingertip veil was caught with a tulle. She carried white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Albert Crispell, sister of the bride, a matron of honor, wore a powder blue satin and net gown and carried yellow chrysanthemums. Bridesmaids were Miss Ethel Shortt, of High Woods and Miss Helen Donaldson, sister of the bride. They wore yellow tulle and net gowns and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride's mother wore a teal blue dress with navy blue accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue ensemble and a corsage of yellow roses.

Bert A. Noble, brother of the bride, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Donaldson, acted as best man. LeRoy Donaldson, brother of the bride, and Herbert H. Noble, cousin of the bride, were ushers.

The final setting was aboard the flagship Santa Maria where plots for matrimony ending in a clash of swords was most exciting for the children. To while away the time the sailors who were natives of different countries did dances characteristic of their homelands such as an Irish jig and the bouncing Russian dance.

Mr. Strawbridge impersonated Columbus and did several solo dances including "a segun" type dance in which he used his little hands to represent the waves of the ocean. The supporting cast was most capable some excelling more than others in the dance forms but all keeping the production interesting for the youngsters. The auditorium was filled almost to capacity.

Christopher Columbus Ballet Is Colorful

The annual Christmas party for the children of the community at Kingston High School Friday afternoon by Edwin Strawbridge and Company. The presentation was sponsored by the Junior League of Kingston as part of its project to bring entertainment especially designed for children to the city.

The costumes were most colorful and the dancing more intricate than in the similar production telling the story of Johnny Appleseed last year. The first scene showed Columbus as a youth on the docks at Genoa where the young people enjoyed dancing the tarantella. Obsessed with the idea that the earth is round young Columbus dreams of reaching the Indies and Cathay.

The dream was one of the most colorful spots in the production as Chinese dancers were presented in the richly embroidered garb of the Far East. The imposing figure of the mighty Khan was also introduced.

The second scene in the court dances were presented as well as a lively tango dance. Again the Queen and her attendants wore the gowns and high headresses with flowing scarfs attached, reminiscent of the Cinderella fairy tale scenes. The men were in bright colored doublets and capes.

Symphony Is Given Ovation at Syracuse; Will Be Here Sunday

The Baltimore Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Reginald Stewart, scheduled to appear at Kingston High School Auditorium, Sunday afternoon, was given an ovational tribute last Saturday night as they played in Lincoln Auditorium, Syracuse.

Among the comments by the reviewers it was said, "Syracuse viewers to Reginald Stewart, excellent conductor, and the Baltimore Symphony, spelled a glad welcome and appreciation for a new experience in music interpretation from the podium and ensemble work by a fine group of instrumentalists."

Concerning Mr. Stewart reports were as follows: "It was Stewart's orchestra all through. Conducting entirely without score or baton, his long slender fingers and tall slim figure projected the music, just as he envisioned it, into strings, woodwinds or brass as he willed. There were original touches, to be sure, but interpretation followed a line of sound musicianship."

The concert will be presented by Community Concerts Association starting at 3 p. m. Admission will be by membership ticket only.

Finch Heads Ulster Supervisory Group

Morton Finch was elected president of the Supervisors Association of Ulster County at the annual meeting held Friday evening at the conclusion of the regular business session of the Board of Supervisors. Edwin Ashby was elected vice-president and Charles R. O'Connor was re-elected treasurer. Under the laws of the organization the clerk of the Board acts as clerk of the Association. Called to order by President Albert Cushman, the name of Mr. Finch was placed in nomination by Ray Schuler when nominations were called for and Harry Hulse placed the names of Mr. Ashby and Mr. O'Connor before the meeting.

President Finch will later name a committee to have charge of the annual banquet. Due to business pressure Mr. Finch was not in attendance at the meeting Friday evening.

The treasurer's report showed a decline in the financial status of the Association with only $32.31 as a balance in the treasury and Supervisor O'Neill suggested the Association was eating itself into insolvency. Last year 233 attended the annual dinner.

Since the last annual meeting four former supervisors have died and the members stood for the memory of those reported to have died since the last meeting were William McElhone, Arthur Rice, Frederick Stephens, Jr., and Sherwood C. Wells.

Veterans Are Asked To Promote 'Memorials'

Kansas City, Dec. 7 (AP) — A proposal that the Veterans of Foreign Wars promote "living memorials" in American cities and towns in honor of the war dead was presented to officials of the Veterans of Foreign Wars yesterday by Leslie C. Stratton, Larchmont, N. Y., national director of public relations of the Boy Scouts of America.

Termining his suggestion a "community enterprise," Stratton addressed the annual meeting of national and state officers of the V.F.W., urged the organization's Scout troops — of additional Boy Scout troops — to build up a citizenship that would accept as its responsibility the duty to uphold democracy and prove by deeds your (V.F.W.) concern for the country you yourselves so valiantly defended.

14 Players Report for First Y.M.C.A. Varsity Practice

Fourteen cagers turned out for the first workout of the Y. M. C. A. varsity basketball team this week, and at least seven more are expected to report for the next drill at the "Y" next Thursday night at 7 o'clock.

Lou Schafer was pleased with the squad, and the way the boys worked, said Bert Streeter, talking for the physical director. Streeter, a rabid amateur cage fan, before he left for service overseas has lost none of his interest and hopes to see the varsity shake down some stiff opposition during the winter.

December 15 is the opening date for the Y. M. C. A. team on its home court, and games will be played every Saturday night from then on. If present plans of Director Schafer materialize his club will compete in a Mid-Hudson Valley League with Poughkeepsie and Newburgh.

Giants' Game With Redskins Holds Spotlight Sunday

New York, Dec. 8 (AP)—Stout Steve Owen's upset-minded New York Giants are all that stand between the Washington Redskins and the eastern half title in the National Football League with tomorrow's contest at Griffith Stadium slated to decide the issue.

Philadelphia, knocked out of a first-place deadlock by New York last week, winds up its regular season at home against Boston. Hoping the Giants give Washington a dose of the same.

If Washington wins or ties New York, it's all over and the Redskins are eastern champions and will meet Cleveland for the league crown December 16. If Sammy Baugh and Co. are defeated, Philadelphia can tie for first and force a playoff by trimming the Boston Yanks. These are the only two scheduled contests on the final day of the season.

The Washington board of strategy has been devising a new defense against Arnie Herber who pitched three shutouts, passes to Frank Liebel and a final game-winning toss to Sam Fox in the Giants' upset of the Eagles.

Clark Shaughnessy, Pittsburgh University coach and "Skins" advisor, insists Herber's long passes can be as demoralizing as a Babe Ruth home run. End Les Dye, converted into a defensive half-back, and halfback Bob Seymour have been assigned to tail the Herber-Liebel combination.

Owen believes he has found a way to stop Steve Bagarus, the loose hipped pass-catcher who made the Giants look silly in early season. It's just another game for the Giants but you'd think they had a chance for the pennant the way they are preparing.

The Eagles, of course, face a must proposition in their game with Boston. They have to win to keep a faint hope alive but last Sunday's events were disheartening to Steve Van Buren and his mates.

Wiltwyck Golf Club To Improve Club House

Members of Wiltwyck Golf Club are considering extensive improvements to their club house, including an extension to the building to provide for enlargement of locker rooms and showers, installation of a heating system and other improvements.

A committee to consider the matter and make recommendations, headed by Claude Needles, was appointed some time ago. It will make its report at a meeting of the stockholders of the club to be held in the court room at the court house Tuesday, December 11, at 8 p. m., following which a vote will be taken on the adoption of the report. Also steps will be taken to raise the funds necessary to make the improvements and alterations.

Old Home Night For Garden Cagers

New York, Dec. 8 (AP)—It will be old home night for nine of the ten starters from Holy Cross and Colgate tonight when the two "visiting" basketball teams play City College and New York University in Madison Square Garden.

All five Holy Cross starters hail from the metropolitan district and four of the Red Raiders' first five learned their court tricks on New York City and Long Island courts. C. C. N. Y. meets Holy Cross in the opener.

Cornelius Elting Retires From Job As Rail Brakeman

Downs Street Man Was in Service 50 Years; Had Possibilities as Ring Champ

CORNELIUS ELTING

Cornelius Elting of 122 Downs street might have been heavyweight champion of the world if he hadn't followed railroad.

But, he isn't sorry, he told a reporter who interviewed him on his retirement from the New York Central system on December 7.

The well-preserved Kingstonian, who has passed the 70 mark, displayed a letter he received from President Metzner of the railroad, expressing appreciation and complimenting him on his long and faithful service with the company and allied lines.

Accompanying the letter was an honorary discharge from active duty after his 50 years and 10 months.

Reminiscing, Mr. Elting recalled how as a sturdy young brakeman on the West Shore, he was urged by some of his riders to concentrate on boxing and go after the ring title held by James J. Corbett.

2 Who Gave Advice

Chief Judge Alton B. Parker and former Governor David B. Hill were two of the passengers who advocated that the husky "brakie" try to dethrone the "Fancy Dan" pugilist who had won the title from John L. Sullivan.

"It was a bright picture they painted about winning the heavyweight title," Mr. Elting said, "but I liked railroading and decided to stick to it."

Now he is among the retired transportation elite who served the public faithfully and can take a well-deserved rest.

Gardiner Native

The old homestead in which Mr. Elting was born still stands in the village of Gardiner. His father, DuBois Elting, was killed by lightning when the boy was only five years old. He vividly recalled the accident, telling how his parent was struck while standing in the doorway of their barn. Two workmen, who had helped him during the haying season were stunned by the shock, the barn caught fire and burned.

From the time he was eight until he reached 21, Cornelius worked on the farm. But, railroading attracted him and he left farming to take a job as brakeman on the trains of the West Shore. He remained on the line until approximately 12 years ago when he shifted to the Wallkill Valley. He served on the last passenger train run over that route.

When It Was Harder

Railroading was not so easy, he remarked, in the days of the pin and link couplers and hand-brakes. Brakeman Elting was one of real old-fashioned trainmen who had to make his way along the tops of cars in all sorts of weather performing his job on the 128-mile run from Weehawken, to Ravena. Weehawken was his home town when he was younger. He raised a large family there, then removed to Van Buren street, Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. Elting have resided on Downs street for six or seven years.

The Russian government has appropriated one billion dollars for the development of television.

Port Ewen Would Participate in Parade for Vets

A suggestion that Port Ewen participate in the proposed huge parade to honor the men and women of Kingston who were with the armed forces is made in a letter to The Freeman from Charles A. Council, secretary of the Port Ewen Social Club.

Mr. Council writes: "We were glad to see your item in The Freeman regarding the appointment of a Welcome Home and Memorial committee for the veterans of World War II. Last March we organized a club in Port Ewen, known as the Port Ewen Social Club."

"Our mutual aims are not to forget to thank, to welcome and to help our returning boys adjust themselves as they return to civilian life."

"Since that time we have conducted Welcome Home parties at intervals to returning veterans. To date our club has a membership of 60, and we are growing in numbers."

"We likewise are planning and saving for that big welcome home."

"Perhaps we can coordinate with Kingston, and have our section represented in the big parade the city is planning for next spring."

Aged Woman Is Found Overcome By Gas; Recovering

Miss Elizabeth Jamieson, 76, of 13 Russell street, was found lying on the floor in her kitchen, overcome by gas flowing from an open jet on the gas range at 10:45 o'clock this morning, according to a police report.

The aged woman was found by Mrs. Vincent P. Curtin of 104 West Pierpont street, who, not having seen Miss Jamieson around, and surmising something was wrong, broke a glass in a window and obtained entrance to the house, the police said.

She found Miss Jamieson on the floor, and promptly called the police department.

Officer Wesley Cramer was sent to the house, and the fire department and the emergency crew of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. responded to a call. Dr. John F. Larkin, health officer, and Dr. Leon Grey, also were called.

The firemen and the Central Hudson men used the pump-out with success and revived Miss Jamieson sufficiently for her to be removed to the Kingston Hospital in the Conner ambulance.

Miss Jamieson, who has been a resident of Kingston for a number of years, lives alone in apartments in the Russell street house. For years she has been an active member of the Roundout Presbyterian Church, and for a number of years she taught a class in the Sunday school.

Unseasonal Construction Activity Is Reported

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—Unseasonal gains in construction activity were reported today as the White House worked on new controls intended to guarantee small homes a share in the building boom.

In addition to restoring priorities over building materials, President Truman said yesterday some sort of price control over real estate are needed. Otherwise he foresees inflation, especially in the cost of smaller residences.

This swing to controls which were scrapped less than two months ago gained impetus from a report of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

It showed that a "surge" of city building got under way in October, the month when building controls were lifted, but that new dwellings accounted for little more than a third of the total new construction. The report added: "Since there are no longer any restrictions on home construction. The report added:

"Since there are no longer any restrictions on home construction, more houses are being built in the higher price brackets."

Mr. Truman told his news conference he did not yet know just how the restoration of priorities would be applied but that the plan was to see that building materials were used principally for residences.

Other government officials have stated that most materials and building labor are going into factory and commercial construction.

cy of New York, who ran unsuccessfully last year.

But J. Russell Sprague, New York National Committeeman and 1944 adviser of Dewey, told a reporter it is too early to talk about potential candidates.

However, J. Kenneth Bradley of Connecticut said he heard a lot of talk among the Republicans about Stassen, former Governor of Minnesota. Stassen served as a Captain in the Navy and was one of the American delegates to the United Nations Conference in San Francisco.

The committee, meanwhile, scheduled a busy day today, topped with addresses at a banquet tonight by National Chairman Herbert E. Brownell, Governor Robert D. Blue of Iowa and Senator Thomas C. Hart of Connecticut.

At yesterday's sessions, the committee learned that its finance group, headed by James S. Kemper of Chicago, had raised $550,000 this year and spent $450,000 of it. The Republicans started the year with a $250,000 surplus and thus now have $350,000 in the treasury.
